

CURIOUS
 IMAGINATIVE
 CREATIVE
 INNOVATIVE INSIGHTFUL
 PERCEPTIVE
 SOCIABLE
 GREGARIOUS
 COOPERATIVE
 SUPPORTIVE
 ...

MYERS-BRIGGS TYPE INDICATOR® TYPE DESCRIPTION

Jane Sample

Extraversion | Intuition | Feeling | Perceiving

ENFPs are enthusiastic innovators, always seeing new possibilities in the world around them. Their world is full of possible projects or interests they want to pursue. Imaginative, high-spirited, and ingenious, they are often able to do almost anything that interests them. They are confident, spontaneous, and flexible, and often rely on their ability to improvise.

They value home, family, friendships, creativity, and learning.

CPP, Inc. | 800.624.1765 | www.cpp.com

Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® Type Description Copyright 2007, 2014 by Peter B. Myers and Katharine D. Myers. Report developed by Allen L. Hammer. All rights reserved. Myers-Briggs Type Indicator, MBTI, and the MBTI logo are trademarks or registered trademarks of the Myers & Briggs Foundation in the United States and other countries. The CPP logo is a trademark or registered trademark of CPP, Inc., in the United States and other countries.

Characteristics of ENFPs

- ENFPs love variety—of ideas, people, and environments.
- ... and more with full report

ENFPs with Others

- ENFPs are skillful in dealing with people and often have remarkable insight into the possibilities open to others.
- ... and more with full report

The logo for the ENFP personality type, consisting of the lowercase letters "enfp" in white, centered within a blue diamond shape. The background of the page is a yellow and orange geometric pattern of overlapping diamonds.

ENFPs at Work

- ENFPs are always initiating new projects.
- ... and more with full report.

Potential Blind Spots for ENFPs

- If ENFPs have not developed their Intuition, they may rely too much on personal value judgments and fail to take in enough information. They then will not trust their own insights, will be uncertain, and may accept others' opinions too readily.
- ... and more with full report.

